

Introducing the

Dimensional US Foundations Index

corebridge

Available exclusively in The Power Series of Index Annuities,[®] this new index is:

- Backed by financial science. The Index draws on insights from some of the greatest minds in financial science to target factors that drive outperformance in financial markets.
- Designed to pursue growth with targeted volatility. Quantitative rules are used to systematically pursue growth within equities, fixed income and commodities while maintaining volatility at a target level of 5%.
- Built with richer, deeper data. Rather than rely on limited or static data, the Index uses industry-leading volatility metrics to dynamically respond to changes in the market.

Hypothetical growth of the Index, 6/30/07 – 6/30/22

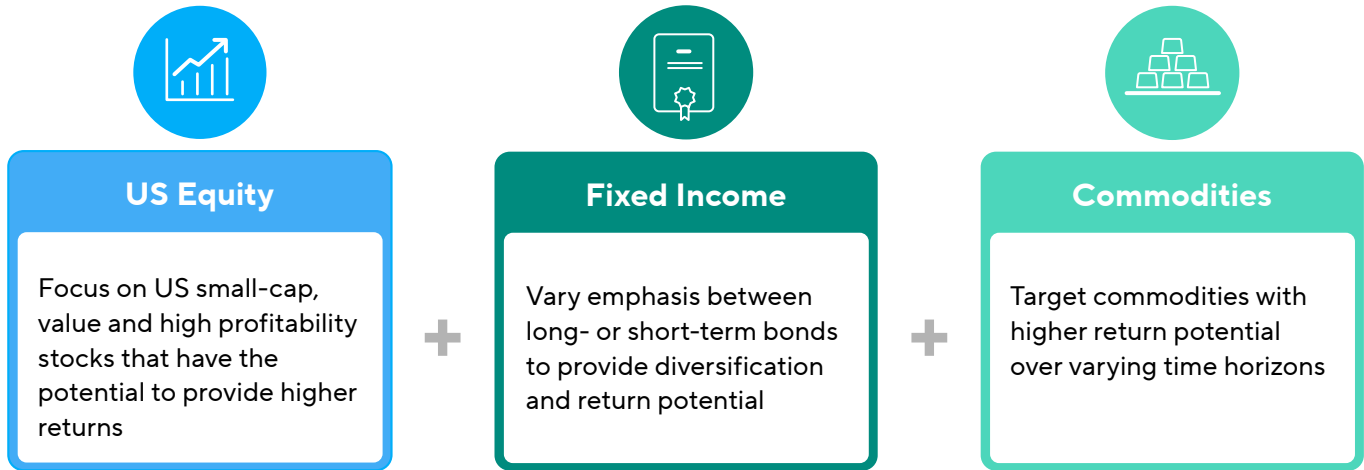

Hypothetical example for illustrative purposes only: Source: Dimensional, 2022. Past performance is no guarantee of future results. The Dimensional US Foundations Index has been retrospectively calculated and did not exist prior to the index inception date of 9/30/22. Accordingly, results shown during the periods prior to the index inception date do not represent actual returns of the Index. Other periods selected may have different results, including losses. Backtested index performance is hypothetical and is provided for informational purposes only to indicate historical performance had the index been calculated over the relevant time periods. Backtested performance results assume the reinvestment of dividends and capital gains.

The above chart does not reflect the amount of interest credited to an index annuity or the impact of any index annuity fees, charges or withdrawals during this time period. Actual results for a specific insurance contract would depend on the crediting strategy chosen and the cap (the maximum amount of the positive movement of an index that is used to calculate interest) or participation rate (the percentage of the positive movement of an index that is used to calculate interest) for the time period(s) shown, as well as any contractual fees, charges or withdrawals. If caps or participation rates, or any index annuity fees, charges or withdrawals were included, the returns shown would be lower. Interest earned in an index annuity will never be less than zero in flat or down markets; contract value will decline due to withdrawals and/or fees.

Strategically allocate across 3 asset classes to help enhance returns

The Index uses a systematic, rules-based process to translate robust market metrics into asset allocation decisions across equities, fixed income, and commodities.

Here's how it works:

Diversification does not ensure a profit or protect against market loss.

Index annuities are not a direct investment in the stock market. They are long-term insurance products with guarantees backed by the claims-paying ability of the issuing insurance company. They provide the potential for interest to be credited based in part on the performance of the specified index, without the risk of loss of premium due to market downturns or fluctuations. Index annuities may not be appropriate for all individuals.

The Dimensional US Foundations Index (the "Index") is sponsored and published by Dimensional Fund Advisors LP ("Dimensional"), which has contracted with Salt Financial LLC ("Salt") (each of Dimensional and Salt, a "Licensor", and which shall include each of their respective directors, officers, employees, representatives, delegates or agents) to provide intellectual property that is used by Dimensional in connection with the maintenance and calculation of the Index.
