The reality is that no one can predict the future performance of the market. If however, you take the client's risk profile and different expectations of the market into consideration, you could help clients determine possible index account allocations that would be more suitable, and potentially closer to their desired objectives.

Let's start by narrowing in on historical market performance.

¹ Due to administrative costs associated with the policy, reduction in cash value is a potential outcome in a down market year.

The table below lists the hypothetical historical performance of underlying indices included in Max Accumulator+ III with current participation or cap rates. It displays the returns from each of the indices over the past 25 years and then shows what would have been credited to each of the index strategies using the current cap or participation rates.¹ Past performance is no guarantee of future results.

Returns for the Index before inception represent hypothetical data determined by retroactive application of a backtested model, itself designed with the benefit of hindsight. The above hypothetical chart is intended only to show the performance of the Franklin Quality Dividend Index™, PIMCO Global Optima Index™, ML Strategic Balanced Index®, and the S&P 500® Index from 2001-2025. Actual results will vary and may be higher or lower than those shown. Past performance is no guarantee of future results. Due to administrative costs associated with the policy, reduction in cash value is a potential outcome in a down market year.

As you can see, among the three volatility control index strategies² the:

- Global Blend Participation strategy (tracking the PIMCO Global Optima Index™) provides potentially higher returns with global market exposure and higher volatility.
- Blend Participation strategy (tracking the ML Strategic Balanced® Index) offers more consistent and stable returns, especially during market downturns, such as the 2001-2002 dot-com bust and the 2008-2009 financial crisis.
- The inclusion of dividends in the Franklin Quality Dividend Index™ may provide higher returns in strong domestic equity market periods.

And the strategy tracking the S&P 500® index the:

- High Cap Rate strategy displays the highest volatility and potentially credits at a higher rate in strong equity markets.

² Volatility Control strategies seek to reduce volatility lessening the impact of market downturns. However, in doing so, these measures can also limit upside potential.

So if we combine the assumptions from the previous page (based on past market performance) with potential client profiles; we can identify some broad segments for potential strategies. Use the graphic below to assist in understanding how certain clients might benefit from certain strategies.

Information about the Franklin Quality Dividend Index

The Franklin Quality Dividend Index ("FQD") has been developed and is owned solely by QS Investors LLC, a subsidiary of Franklin Resources, Inc. Neither Blackrock (the sponsor of iShares ETFs) nor Invesco is affiliated with Franklin Resources, Inc. and QS Investors, LLC. FQD and any security or product based on or making use of FQD are not sponsored, endorsed, or promoted by Blackrock or Invesco, and neither company bears any responsibility or liability for or with respect to FQD or any security or product based on or making use of FQD.

FQD is calculated on behalf of QS Investors, LLC by Solactive or its affiliate, agent, or partner. Solactive, QS Investors, LLC, Franklin Resources, Inc. and their respective affiliates do not make any claim, prediction, warranty or representation as to the accuracy and completeness of FQD, the results to be obtained from use of FQD or the suitability of FQD for the purpose to which it is being put by American General Life Insurance Company, and bear no liability for FQD or for any security or product based on or making use of FQD.

FQD embeds an annual index cost in the calculations of the change in index value. This embedded index cost will reduce any change in index value, and it funds certain operational and licensing costs for the Index. Since it will affect the return of the Index, it may also impact the amount of interest credited to an index annuity; however, it is not a fee paid by the policy owner or received by the issuing insurance company.

Information about the ML Strategic Balanced Index®

The ML Strategic Balanced Index embeds an annual index cost in the calculations of the change in index value over the index term. This "embedded index cost" will reduce any change in index value over the index term that would otherwise have been used in the calculation of index interest, and it funds certain operational and licensing costs for the index. It is not a fee paid by you or received by American General Life Insurance Company ("AGL"). AGL's licensing relationship with Merrill Lynch, Pierce, Fenner & Smith Incorporated for use of the ML Strategic Balanced Index and for use of certain service marks includes AGL's purchase of financial instruments for purposes of meeting its interest crediting obligations. Some portion of those instruments will, or may be, purchased from Merrill Lynch, Pierce, Fenner & Smith Incorporated or its affiliates.

The ML Strategic Balanced Index provides systematic, rules-based access to the blended performance of two underlying indices—the S&P 500® (without dividends), which serves to represent equity performance, and the Merrill Lynch 10-year U.S. Treasury Futures Total Return Index, which serves to represent fixed income performance. To help manage overall return volatility, the Index may also systematically utilize Cash performance in addition to the performance of the two underlying indices.
