Understanding The Power Series of Index Annuities

The Power Series of Index Annuities are fixed index annuities (FIAs) issued by American General Life Insurance Company (AGL). FIAs are insurance contracts, not direct investments in stocks or any index. In exchange for your money (premium), the FIA provides you with the opportunity to earn interest based on specific indices or a fixed rate. When you need income, AGL promises to make regular income payments through annuitization (a process that permanently converts your contract to retirement income for no explicit fee) or through enhanced features (also known as guaranteed living benefit or GLB riders) for an annual fee. GLB riders are not available in all Power Series Index Annuities.

¹ Contract value in an index annuity will decline due to withdrawals and/or fees.

² Index annuities are not a direct investment in the stock market. Interest earned is never less than zero in flat or down markets.

³ Russell 2000® and S&P 500® are price return indices and do not include dividends.

⁴ The AB All Market, Dimensional US Foundations and ML Strategic Balanced indices have an embedded cost. See back cover for details.

PSB stands for Power Select Builder. This chart is not intended to recommend any specific account(s). Consult your financial professional or agent to determine which account(s) are appropriate for your specific situation and risk tolerance. Index interest accounts may vary by firm and may not be available in all firms or states.

⁵ PTP stands for Point-to-Point. It represents the period from one contract anniversary (the date the annuity is purchased) to another.

⁶ See definition for Participation (PAR) Rate on next page.

⁷ Available for an annual fee.

Benefit from the power of index-based performance

Depending on the account you choose, your assets may grow with index interest calculated as follows:

- First, interest is based on index performance over a 1- or 2-year period. These terms are determined starting from the issue date of the annuity contract and ending with the anniversary 1 or 2 years later.
- Next, interest is adjusted by one of the crediting methods below. These methods can limit, reduce or even increase the amount of interest earned (see examples below).

Understanding the interest crediting methods

	What they are	Hypothetical examples of how they work
Index rate cap	Maximum percentage of index performance that can be credited as interest for an index term	$10\% > 5\% = 5\%$ Index change Cap Interest earned
Participation (PAR) rate	Percentage of index performance used to calculate interest	$10\% \times 40\% = 4\%$ Index change PAR rate Interest earned
Spread	Minimum threshold that index performance must exceed to be credited interest.	$10\% - 4\% = 6\%$ Index change Spread Interest earned
Combined PAR rate and spread	PAR rate and spread are used to calculate interest. The PAR rate may be above or below 100%.	$(10\% \times 80\%) - 3\% = 5\%$ Index change PAR rate Spread Interest earned
Enhanced Participation Rate (EPR)	Higher PAR rate available in select accounts for an annual fee. These accounts may but are not guaranteed to provide higher interest credits. Fees reduce EPR account values.	$10\% \times 110\% = 11\%$ Index change Enhanced PAR rate Interest earned
EPR level-up credit	One-time credit automatically added to your annuity if total EPR fees exceed total interest earned in the annuity at the end of the withdrawal charge period (see page 5 for withdrawal charge period).	$$10,000 - $9,000 = $1,000$ Total EPR fees deducted Total interest credited EPR level-up credit
Performance-triggered rate (Trigger rate)	Preset rate guaranteed to be credited to your account when index performance is flat or positive. This rate is credited even if index return is higher. No interest is credited if index return is negative.	At least $0\% \rightarrow 5\% = 5\%$ Index change Performance-triggered rate Interest earned

Please see the Power Series rate flyer for current rates and EPR fees.

The rates above are for illustrative purposes only and do not represent the rates in your contract. Rates are set on each contract anniversary and guaranteed not to change until the end of the index term (1 or 2 years).

Index interest accounts may vary by firm and may not be available in all firms or states. Please see your financial professional or agent and the Owner Acknowledgment and Disclosure Statement for more information on the availability of these accounts. Index interest accounts are not a permanent part of the contract and may be removed due to circumstances beyond the control of the issuing insurance company. These circumstances and the special rules that govern how assets in a discontinued index interest account may be reallocated are outlined in the contract and the Owner Acknowledgment and Disclosure Statement. Please read them for more information as these rules may vary by contract and state.

Index annuities are not a direct investment in the stock market. They are long-term insurance products with guarantees backed by the claims-paying ability of the issuing insurance company. They provide the potential for interest to be credited based in part on the performance of the specified index, without the risk of loss of premium due to market downturns or fluctuations. Index annuities may not be appropriate for all individuals. Withdrawals may be subject to federal and/or state income taxes. An additional 10% federal tax may apply if you make withdrawals or surrender your annuity before age 59½. Please consult a tax advisor regarding your specific situation.
