Understanding The Power Series of Index Annuities

The Power Series of Index Annuities are fixed index annuities (FIAs) issued by American General Life Insurance Company (AGL). FIAs are insurance contracts, not direct investments in the stock market or any particular index. In exchange for your money (premium), the FIA provides you with the opportunity to earn interest based on specific indices or a fixed rate. When you need income, AGL promises to make regular income payments through annuitization (a process that permanently converts your contract to retirement income for no cost) or through an enhanced feature (also known as a guaranteed living benefit or GLB rider) for an annual fee. A GLB rider is not available in all Power Series of Index Annuities.

¹Contract value in an index annuity will decline due to withdrawals and/or fees.

²Index annuities are not a direct investment in the stock market. Interest earned is never less than zero in flat or down markets.

³The S&P 500[®] is a price return index and does not include dividends.

⁴The AQR DynamiQ Allocation and ML Strategic Balanced indices have an embedded cost. See back cover for details.

Choose from diverse index interest accounts

Each account may earn interest based partly on the performance of an index. The following table shows the account options and interest crediting methods available for each index. For example, you can choose from four S&P 500® index interest accounts, either with index rate cap, participation (PAR) rate, enhanced PAR rate, or performance-triggered rate (see next page for more information on these interest crediting methods).

Access the power of index-based performance

Depending on the index interest account you choose, your assets may grow with index interest calculated as follows:

- First, interest is based on index performance over a 1- or 2-year period. The period is determined starting from the issue date of the annuity contract and ending with the anniversary 1 or 2 years later.
- Next, interest is adjusted by one of the following crediting methods. These methods can reduce or increase the amount of interest earned (see examples below).

Interest crediting method	What it is	Hypothetical example of how it works
Index rate cap	Maximum percentage of index performance that can be credited as interest for an index term	$10\% > 5\% = 5\%$ Index change Cap Interest earned
Participation (PAR) rate	Percentage of index performance used to calculate interest	$10\% \times 40\% = 4\%$ Index change PAR rate Interest earned
Enhanced participation rate (EPR)	Higher PAR rate available in select accounts for a fee. You may, but are not guaranteed, to receive higher interest credits with EPR accounts. EPR account values will be reduced by annual fees.	$10\% \times 110\% = 11\%$ Index change EPR Interest earned
EPR level-up credit	One-time automatic adjustment that may occur at the end of the withdrawal charge period. If the total EPR fees exceed the total interest earned in the annuity, the difference will be credited to your annuity at the end of the withdrawal charge period (see page 6 for withdrawal charge information).	$$10,000 - $9,000 = $1,000$ Total EPR fees deducted Total interest credited in the annuity EPR level-up credit
Performance-triggered rate	Preset rate guaranteed to be credited to your account when index performance is flat or positive. This rate is credited even if index return is higher. No interest is credited if index return is negative.	$\text{At least } 0\% \rightarrow 5\% = 5\%$ Index change Performance-triggered rate Interest earned

Please see the Power 7 Protector or Power 7 Protector Plus Income rate flyer for current rates.

The rates above are for illustrative purposes only and do not represent the rates in your contract. Rates are set on each contract anniversary and guaranteed not to change until the end of the index term.

Index interest accounts may vary by firm and may not be available in all firms or states. Please see your financial professional or agent and the Owner Acknowledgment and Disclosure Statement for more information on the availability of these accounts. Index interest accounts are not a permanent part of the contract and may be removed due to circumstances beyond the control of the issuing insurance company. These circumstances and the special rules that govern how assets in a discontinued index interest account may be reallocated are outlined in the contract and the Owner Acknowledgment and Disclosure Statement. Please read them for more information as these rules may vary by contract and state.

Index annuities are not a direct investment in the stock market. They are long-term insurance products with guarantees backed by the claims-paying ability of the issuing insurance company. They provide the potential for interest to be credited based in part on the performance of the specified index, without the risk of loss of premium due to market downturns or fluctuations. Index annuities may not be appropriate for all individuals. Withdrawals may be subject to federal and/or state income taxes.

An additional 10% federal tax may apply if you make withdrawals or surrender your annuity before age 59½. Please consult a tax advisor regarding your specific situation.

Both the ML Strategic Balanced Index® and the AQR DynamiQ Allocation Index® embed an annual index cost in the calculations of the change in index value. This embedded index cost will reduce any change in index value, and it funds certain operational and licensing costs for the indices. Since it will affect the return of the indices, it may also impact the amount of interest credited to an index annuity; however, it is not a fee paid by you or received by the issuing insurance company.
