S&P 500® Performance-Triggered & Annual Point-to-Point Cap Accounts in the Power Series of Fixed Index Annuities®

Retirement solutions from Corebridge Financial

See how the S&P 500® Performance-Triggered and Annual Point-to-Point Cap Accounts would have performed over the last 40 years, assuming a 7.5% trigger rate and a 10% cap.

- Both accounts would have generated interest in 30 out of 40 years or 75% of the time.
- Both would have protected principal over 10 years or 25% of the time, shielding assets from an average loss of -11.96%!

Guaranteed growth in flat or weak markets

With the 7.5% trigger account, you're guaranteed 7.5% interest, as long as S&P 500® Index returns are positive.

Downside protection

No interest is earned in down markets, but no market losses are incurred either.

Hypothetical example assumptions: Tables shown here and on the reverse are for illustrative purposes only. Rates vary by annuity, index interest account, premium amount and GLB rider elected and may be reset annually. Client elects one rate feature at purchase. The charts assume the trigger and cap rates are 7.5% and 10% respectively on each contract anniversary. In positive markets, the 7.5% trigger rate is credited even if index returns are higher. The charts are hypothetical and are intended only to show how the accounts work. They are not a recommendation of the S&P 500® Performance-Triggered Account or the S&P 500® Annual Point-to-Point Index Interest Cap Account. There is no fee for these accounts. Index annuities are not a direct investment in the stock market. They are long-term insurance products with guarantees backed by the claims-paying ability of the issuing insurance company. They provide the potential for interest to be credited based in part on the performance of the specified index, without the risk of loss of premium due to market downturns or fluctuations. Index annuities may not be appropriate for all individuals. Withdrawals may be subject to federal and/or state income taxes. A 10% federal early withdrawal tax penalty may apply if taken before age 59½ in addition to ordinary income tax. Partial withdrawals may reduce benefits and contract value.
