What we do

How do Corebridge member companies protect my personal information?	To protect your personal information from unauthorized access and use, we use security measures that comply with federal law. These measures include administrative, technical, and physical safeguards. We restrict access to employees, representatives, agents, or selected third parties who have been trained to handle nonpublic personal information.
How do Corebridge member companies collect my personal information?	We collect your personal information from you, for example, when you ▪ open an account or give us your contact information ▪ provide account information or make a wire transfer ▪ deposit money or close/surrender an account We also collect your personal information from others, such as credit bureaus, affiliates, or other companies.
Why can't I limit all sharing?	Federal law gives you the right to limit only • sharing for affiliates' everyday business purposes – information about your creditworthiness • affiliates from using your information to market to you • sharing for nonaffiliates to market to you State laws may give you additional rights to limit sharing. See below for more on your rights under state law.
